TABLE OF CONTENTS

OPENING 4

The time has come . . . Our four years at Barnstable have seen a lot of activity. In fact, most people would agree that we have made the most of our time. Through it all, BHS students took the time to leave their mark on the school. The 1984 Barnacle staff invites you to join us in our salute to time — the overseer of these memorable high school years.

With over 1500 students at Barnstable High, it's hard to find any common bond that ties us all together (aside from the school itself). There is, however, one thing that everyone at B.H.S. likes to do: have fun.

The school day can be hard; when the 2:06 bell rings, students take advantage of what little time they have to enjoy themselves. Of course, much time in class can be successfully used in daydreaming about being out of school. At virtually any time, in any hallway, a common thing to hear is! "What did you do this weekend?", "I wish it was Friday", "Is it only third period?", or "What's going on Saturday night?"

When the weekend finally does arrive, it can make up for any mid-week boredom. Students like to see a movie, go shopping, eat at fast food places, go to the beach if it's warm, cheer for the school at games, see a play, and especially — party!

Free time certainly makes high school a lot easier to bear!

To everything there is a season,
and a time to every purpose under heaven:
A time to weep and a time to laugh;
A time to mourn and a time to dance;
A time to cast away stones;
and a time to gather stones together;
A time to embrace, and a time to refrain from embracing;
A time to get and a time to lose;
A time to keep, and a time to cast away.

Ecclesiastes 3:1, 4-6

Class drags by slowly in contrast to the weekend, which moves with amazing speed. And what about passing time? Six minutes are simply never enough to make it from one end of the building to another! Just as passing time is too short, so is the time that students have during high school. We have so many activities — from sports to clubs and music groups — even jobs, that there is no time left to be bored. Through it all, the BHS student body accomplishes much in the school and around the community.

The world's at your feet when you're young and in fashion.
You're on the move, don't stop for too long
Don't turn your back, keep your hand on the action
Just like a heart beat, it's here and it's gone.

It's the prime of your life
Gotta make it last
It's the sign of the times
Comin' up so fast
It's the prime of your life
Gotta make it last
It's the prime of your life.

You're not ashamed of the lies and deception
You're not afraid of the shape you're in
You're not opposed to a change in direction
Life is a game, you're playing to win.

It's the prime of your life
Gotta make it last
It's the sign of the times
Comin' up so fast
It's the prime of your life
Gotta make it last
It's the prime of your life.

Remember that time is money.
— Ben Franklin

Perhaps old Ben meant that we should not waste time, but his saying has a more literal meaning when applied to the lives of BHS students. In fact, he might be surprised at just how many ways we spend time in order to make money.

In fact, BHS students have jobs as waiters, waitresses, landscapers, chambermaids, ice-cream scoopers, cashiers, shelf-stockers, caddies, yard workers, painters, floor sweepers, cooks, grocery baggers, receptionists, gas station attendants and sellers, of anything from bubble gum to Levi jeans.

One thing that Mr. Franklin failed to mention though — is all of this work worth only $3.35 an hour?

Do you know where you're going to?
Do you like the things that life is showing you?
Where are you going to? Do you know?

Once we were standing still in time,
Chasing the fantasies that filled our minds.
And you knew how I loved you but the spirit was free,
Laughing at the questions that you once asked of me.

Now looking back at all we planned,
We let so many dreams slip through our hands.
Why must we wait so long before we see,
How sad the answers to those questions can be?

Do you get what you're hoping for?
When you look behind you there's no open door.
What are you hoping for? Do you know?

FACULTY

ADMINISTRATION

The BHS Administration is in charge of discipline, activities, and curriculum. Dr. Tynan, Mr. Geick and Dr. Wannie form the central administration, while Mr. Graves supervises deans and club advisors, and Mr. Goldman concentrates on the twelve department heads. Teachers work with the administration to create a solid academic curriculum.

Top Left: Dr. Edward Tynan, Superintendent of Schools.
Middle Left: Dr. T. Walter Wannie, Principal. Middle Right: Mr. Richard M. Goldman, Assistant Principal.
Bottom: Mr. Richard H. Graves, Assistant Principal.

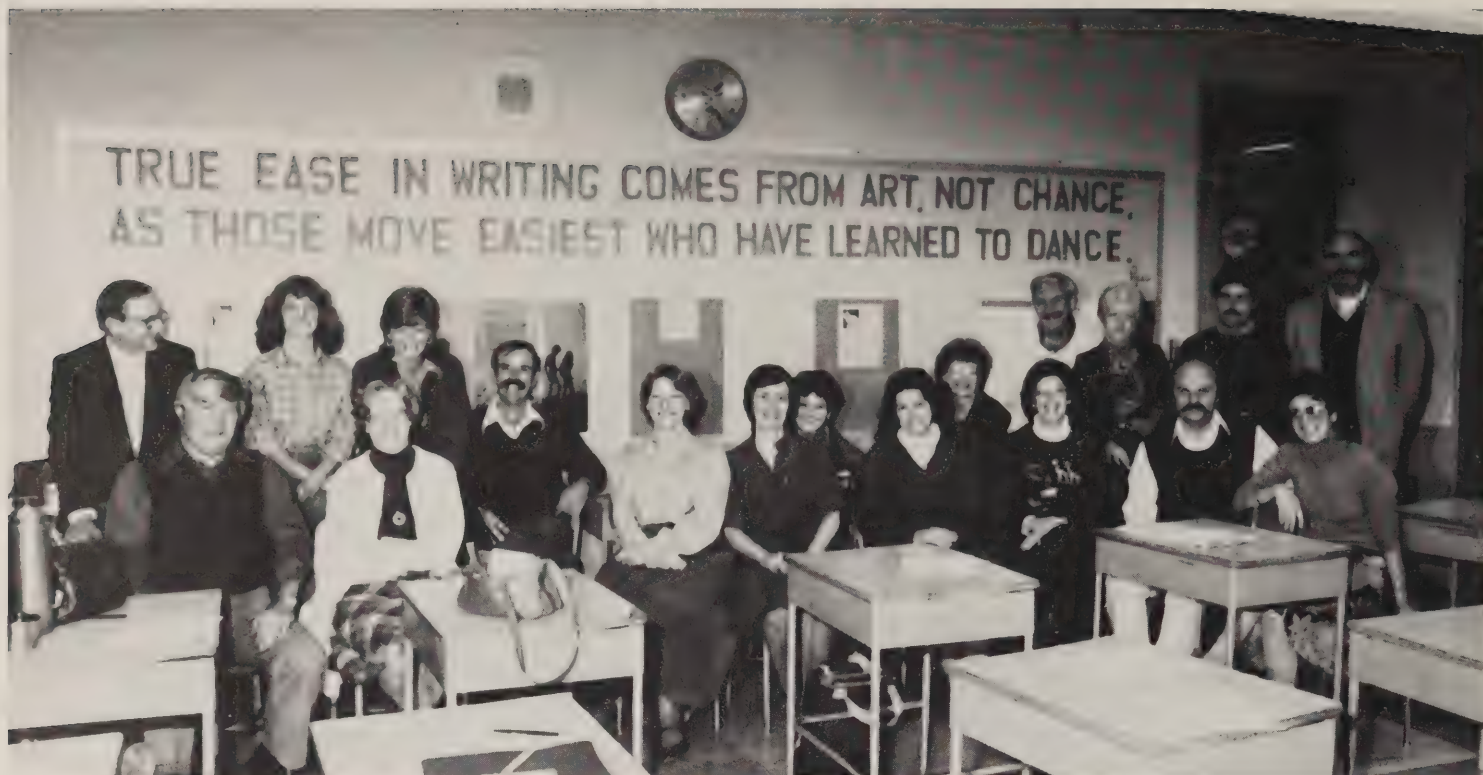

GUIDANCE

The BHS Guidance Department works at providing a personal and academic atmosphere for the students through counseling. Six guidance counselors and a special needs counselor serve BHS. They aid the students in arranging their schedules to fit their needs and requirements for graduation. Their hard work and assistance is greatly appreciated by all.

Above: Department of Guidance — Mr. Richard Warren, Mr. William Cotter, Mr. C. Eldon Lawson.

ENGLISH

The BHS English Department is the largest in the school because each student is required to take four years of English. English 1 and 2 are offered to freshmen and sophomores; they must pass these before moving on to more advanced study. Once through these two years juniors and seniors can choose from a broad range of electives.

HISTORY

At BHS, to be able to graduate from the school, the student must have at least two credits of history. There are many different social studies for students to choose from. Intro to Life is limited only to Seniors; it offers students practical information about real-life topics and situations.

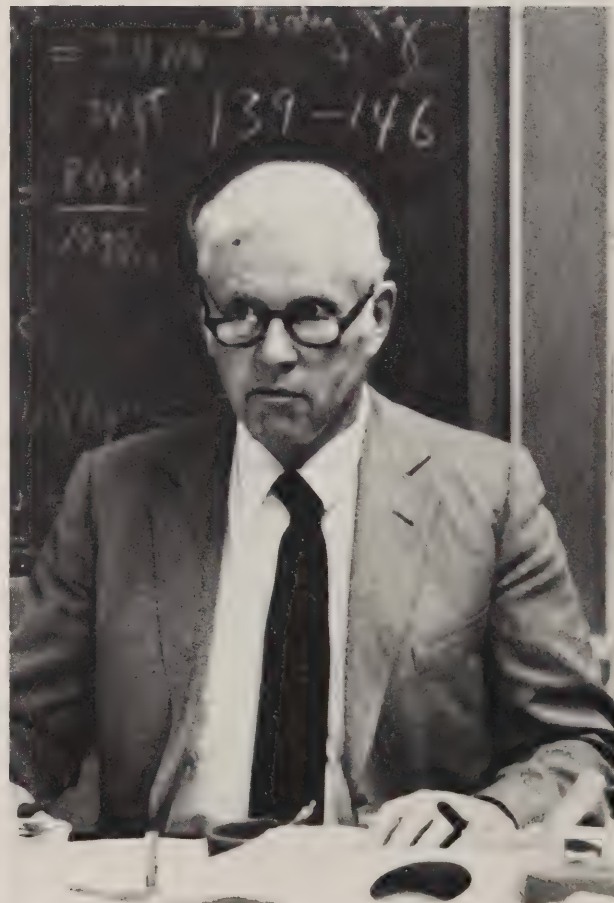

Social Values and Psychology study human behavior and personality, while Afro-American History covers the experience of Black Americans. A student can also study Economics, Ancient History, Sociology or American Government to fulfill his graduation requirement.

SCIENCE

Although most BHS students take the three fundamental science courses: biology, chemistry and physics, there are also many other topics offered. Among them are the environmental earth science, ecology/geology and electronics courses. In addition, students may pursue a subject in their free time for independent study credit.

MATH

The BHS Math Dept. offers a wide range of courses, so that any student may find a suitable subject to study. For the college bound individual, there are the usual preparatory courses such as Algebra, Geometry, Trigonometry and Calculus. There are also business math courses and computer training programs.

BUSINESS

The average high school student has at least one course in the business field. Most students take Computer Programming, Typing and Accounting. Business Law, a popular course, is a great college-preparatory class for students who wish to know more about their rights as an adult. Classes in accounting help students learn about the objectives and perspectives about owning a business. Computer Programming shows how to program a computer, operate one and use it in the business world. All of these classes help the students learn what the future is going to bring.

FOREIGN LANGUAGES

The Foreign Language classes at BHS are popular, for they teach Spanish, Latin, French and German. These courses include the historical, geographical and cultural backgrounds of Spain, Rome, France and Germany. In Spanish, for example, students are taught about Mexican, South American, and Spanish civilizations along with everyday life. The department encourages students to take courses in foreign languages to gain the basic language structures. These languages help in traveling to foreign countries.

ART

The Art Department is a place for students to express themselves in a way no other place allows. Through courses in various levels of fine arts, sculpture, arts and crafts, and ceramics, students find an excellent creative outlet. Their talents are fostered by the four art teachers, and a striking improvement is noticeable in all students who pursue a four-year art program.

MUSIC

The BHS Music Department caters to musicians both as individuals and as groups. Walking through the music wing of the school, one may hear the strains of a piano, or the sound of an entire choir or band. Students work on improving their skills through personal lessons, and then contribute their talents to one of several performing groups. Music Theory, a popular class, teaches the student the basic rules of music, plus the ability to conduct and compose and also covers the history of music. Concert Band, Concert Choir, Chamber Singers, String Ensemble, Chamber Strings, and Color Guard present many concerts throughout the school year.

INDUSTRIAL ARTS

The Industrial Arts Department at BHS offers students a chance to learn the basics of woodworking, electricity, electronics, plastics, metal working and technical drawing. Students take their own projects and develop coordination and skill with the equipment. These courses help students to prepare for engineering schools and technical schools.

FAMILY AND PERSONAL LIVING

Courses in Family and Personal Living help students learn to adjust to life. The skills taught cover everything from marriage to careers such as Interior Decorating. Courses in Independent Living and Marriage and Family Life help students to deal with new challenges such as going off to college and starting new jobs. Another course which many students take, is Child Development. Part of this department includes a pre-school, which is open to the Barnstable community. This gives the students a chance to develop skills in teaching, child guidance, nutrition and health care.

Top: Ms. Barbara Jones, Mrs. Janet Mohre, Mrs. Patricia Gonnella. Bottom: Jennifer Langley.

PHYSICAL EDUCATION

BHS has one of the best Physical Education Departments in the state. There are nine teachers who spend their days helping students stay in shape. Along with the regular classes there are special courses offered. There are classes for students who are considering physical education as a major in college. Also there are CPR classes which teach the student how to save lives.

SPECIAL EDUCATION

The Special Education Program offers many different opportunities for the students involved. There is the Resource Room which helps the students to develop their classroom abilities. A transitional program has been developed to help the students to feel comfortable in the classroom. Also there is a team program which allows the students to work at their own rate. The teachers in these various programs spend many hours helping the students in any way they can.

NURSES

The nurses' office, a very busy place, plays an important role in ensuring student health. The nurses aid the sick, supervise sports physicals, administer immunizations, and frequently conduct vision and hearing tests. The nursing staff helps to keep the school population healthy.

Above: Mrs. Lane, Mrs. Aittainiemi, Mrs. Dupuis, and Mrs. Coughlin.

LIBRARY

The library is used by students to research papers, speeches, and reports. It is also used as a place for pleasurable reading and quiet study. The library contains 19,000 volumes, 100 periodicals, and 35,000 items on microfiche to aid students in gathering information. Mr. Geary and the library staff guide students in locating reference tools and books.

SECRETARIES

The secretaries in our school have not got an easy job. They have to answer phones, organize the attendance lists and try to keep everything in order. All the paperwork is done by them, so we at BHS would certainly be lost without our secretaries.

Barnstable played its 1983 Homecoming Game against a difficult opponent, Dartmouth High School. Although Dartmouth claimed the victory 21-6, Barnstable played an excellent game. The seniors elected Ted Semprini and Joyce Peacock as their Homecoming King and Queen. The juniors, sophomores, and freshmen elected Kelly Higgins, Debbie Bacchiochi and Keely Toscano respectively for their class queens.

SUPREMES WRECK WRECKERS

The weather on Sunday, November 20, 1983, was clear and cool: perfect for the annual Powderpuff football game.

The Juniors (Vech's Wreckers) looked strong, but they were not able to overcome the talent of the Senior Supremes, who won by a score of 8-6.

It became evident during the first half of the game who the star players of both teams were: Juniors June Bancroft and Micky Cole and Seniors Cheryl Corbett and Beth Prada. In addition many others, Kelly Eaton, Andree Lebel and Karen McBarron, proved to be valuable assets to their teams.

During halftime the cheerleaders showed their talents. Dave Barrett, one of Vech's Virgins, the Junior squad; performed some awesome backhand-springs. The VV's could not outdo the Senior Spankers, however. Opinion is divided as to what exactly gave the Spankers this victory. Was it Dan's leather mini-skirt, or the entire squad's enthusiasm for clean-up duty?

Although halftime was fun, it was followed by an exciting second half. All the scoring took place during the last two quarters, and it was truly worth the wait. The Powderpuff game of 1983 was a successful one for the Seniors, yet at the same time proved to be the school that the Juniors will be a tough team to beat in 1984.

The annual Junior Miss Pageant is not a beauty contest, but rather a program designed to reward girls outstanding in scholastic achievement, physical well-being, clarity of expression, creative and performing arts, and poise. The 1984 pageant was directed and supervised by two energetic individuals, Nancy Fagerstrom and Kim Fitts. Their efforts in leading the advertising campaign, communicating with the Key Club (which sponsors the event), and scheduling rehearsals for the twenty-nine girls made the pageant one of the most successful ever.

This year the title of Junior Miss went to Beth McGarry. Kim Powell earned first runner-up, Jennifer Fortman became second runner-up, and Andrea Williams was third runner-up. Julie Pemberton earned an award for excellence in scholastic achievement, Nancy Downes for excellence in physical fitness. Paige Hall for excellence in poise and appearance, Debbie Courteau for excellence in talent, and Jennifer Langley received the Spirit of Junior Miss award.

Each winner was rewarded with a scholarship, but all of the girls were rewarded by the new friendships made in preparation for the pageant.

ART CLUB

Art is the one subject that is undefinable. Art Club, therefore, is also difficult to explain. The BHS Art Club consists of a small group of talented and successful artists, each in his or her own way. This is the premise upon which the club is built: success through individuality.

All members must make a group effort to understand themselves and the environment better; expression of this knowledge is art.

PHOTOGRAPHY CLUB

Photography Club enables students of varying degrees of expertise to discuss photography and its techniques, to share pictures, and to participate in activities related to photography. Field trips are also taken, including a trip to Provincetown in the spring of 1983. A trip to a professional photography studio is planned for later in the year.

SCHOOL STORE

The "Raiders Trading Post" provides students with the opportunity to become experienced in the business world. Under the supervision of Mrs. Johnson, volunteers sell such items as mints, pens and pencils. Aside from these standard school supplies, the store also stocks several types of sportswear which displays the "Barnstable" logo.

SKI CLUB

Barnstable High School's Ski Club, which has been in existence for fifteen years, introduces students to the sport of skiing. Novice and expert skiers alike are included in the club's trips. In the past the Ski Club has taken several trips to Europe, including Innsbruck, Austria and Chamonix, France.

FUTURE PROBLEM SOLVING

Students involved in Future Problem Solving exercise their imaginations inventing and solving problems. They have dealt with ones such as the drawbacks of using computers, as well as the increased use of video games and prison overpopulation.

Students propose solutions and then discuss them in-depth. Mrs. Weiss advises the Future Problem Solvers.

SPEECH

The Barnstable Speech Team is a credit to our school and community. There are, within speech, a number of different categories, one suited for every individual. When attending a tournament, contestants are split into their specific categories, such as play reading, children's literature, prose reading, etc., and then further divided into subgroups. There are usually 3 to 4 rounds, each consisting of 4 to 5 contestants being ranked by a single judge. The students who arrive as shy individuals blossom into confident, articulate speakers who can stand up and speak to a room full of people. These students develop into state and national winners.

The program starts as soon as school commences and finishes its season in April. Students have traveled in past years to New York, Detroit, Boston, Chicago, Alabama, and San Francisco.

Students Against Driving Drunk, better known as S.A.D.D., is an organization of Barnstable High School students who have the following goals: to educate students and their friends about the problem of drinking and driving; to show that students are willing to take the responsibility for the safety of themselves and their friends; to cooperate with other like-minded organizations and to develop peer counseling.

MATH CLUB

The Barnstable High School Math Team tests students' mathematical abilities. Competitions are based on both individual and group skills. The problems cover a wide range of knowledge in math, from basic algebra to calculus. Mr. Beveridge is the adviser of this year's team.

A.F.S.

The American Field Service is a student exchange program which operates in 60 countries over the world. The club's activities include a carnival, a spaghetti dinner, and flower sales to raise money, as well as trips to Boston, Plymouth, and Connecticut. Future plans include exchange student weekends.

IMANI CLUB

The Imani Club is a group dedicated to the interests of minority people in the school and in the community. It provides a variety of cultural experiences, work projects, and fund-raising activities for its members.

J. Turner, Kathy Haskins, Janice O'Neill.

KEY CLUB

Key Club is a service organization for high school students. It operates under school regulations and draws its membership from the student body. Key Club is unique because it's sponsored by the Kiwanis Club. Its aim is the development of initiative, leadership ability, and good citizenship practices.

CODE CLUB

Code Club is a community organization which assists the elderly, sick, disabled and underprivileged.

STUDENT ADVISORY BOARD

The Student Advisory Board, which is made up of five students, meets with Mr. Tynan once a month to discuss issues related to school. "Gripes, groans, and moans week" was their major effort this year to involve the students in high school policy decisions. They are the student advocates in the school committee's eyes.

N.H.S.

The National Honor Society accepts students on the basis of their leadership, scholarship, service to the community, and character. At the end of their junior year, students with a grade point average of 3.30 or higher are selected to fill out an application. Those students chosen for N.H.S. membership are inducted in the spring.

HOMEROOM REPRESENT- ATIVES

Each homeroom elects a representative and an alternate annually. It is the responsibility of the Representative to inform his/her homeroom of class matters. If the Representative is not able to do this, then it is the responsibility of the alternate.

Over the years the Representatives have organized many fund raising events. These events helped make a successful Jr. Prom at Dunfey's.

Senior year, however, is the most important. Along with informing the class of such activities, they also organize Senior Prom and Graduation.

STUDENT COUNCIL

The Barnstable High School's Student Council has a significant role. It doesn't run the school or cling to the administration. Rather, the Council is the Student Government and serves as a microcosm of the entire student body. This allows for ideas and suggestions from non-members at all times. Student Council runs all elections, works with homeroom representatives and corresponds with the community, and serves as the intermediary between faculty and student body.

"THE WIZARD OF OZ"

The "Wizard of Oz" was only one of the Drama Club's productions. Each year the club, under the direction of John Sullivan and assistant Vincent Puleo, put on two plays as well as the week long Haunted House. More than 3/4 of the club have some role in the performance as either actors, sound technicians, or sets and props coordinators. Mr. Sullivan often "double-casts" to include as many people as possible.

THE HAUNTED HOUSE

The Haunted House, now in its fifth year, is a large source of income for the Barnstable High School Drama Club. This year more than 2,500 people entered the auditorium, bringing in an excess of $5,000.00 for the club. A large attraction was the palace of Jabba the Hut, where many of the "Return of the Jedi" creatures were brought to life. The week started off with Barnstable selectmen presenting Jabba with the key to the town. From there, it was eight more nights of hard work for most of the clubs many members. Other popular draws were "The Twilight Zone", the werewolves, "E.T.", and the horned king.

MUSIC DEPARTMENT

Beautiful voices echo daily in the halls of the music wing.

Choir meets daily and practices with their director, Mrs. Luminello. Choir performs at the various concerts throughout the year.

Chamber Singers, a smaller group of more dedicated singers, also under the direction of Mrs. Luminello, meets at night and performs at school functions.

CONCERT BAND

By middle November when marching band season is almost over, the Barnstable High School Concert Band is well under way. Every morning, first period, the band practices with its director, Mr. Tony Stevens and brass instructor Mr. Allen Machon. The band plays pieces from jazz to classical and performs at school concerts.

The Barnstable High School Marching Band, known as "The Pride of Cape Cod," will be remembered for psyching up the football team every fall for the past four years.

This class A band, under the direction of Mr. Anthony Stevens and Ms. Ruth Gardner and their assistants Mr. Will Harrigan, drum instructor, Mr. Larry LeGrande, and brass instructor, Mr. Allen Machon, also travels across the state to compete and marches in local parades, including the Harwich Cranberry Festival, which they won first place at this year.

On any Tuesday or Thursday afternoon, or Saturday morning, drum majors Stan Alger and Lisa Fournier, and drill team captains Kathy Boisvert, Kim Michaelson and Lisa Lattimer drill the band. The preparation for their show actually starts in July with practices about once a week. Band Camp at the end of August consists of six three hour practices.

"The Pride of Cape Cod" is a tribute to Barnstable High School.

INSIGHT

Insight, our school newspaper, strives to bring us in-depth news stories, entertaining feature articles, pertinent editorials, and thorough sports coverage all year long.

For the past 14 years, Insight has received either a Medalist Award or a first place award from Columbia Scholastic Press Association. Mr. Dienes, the faculty advisor, and the production staff of Insight have done a fine job keeping us abreast of the news.

The 1984 Yearbook staff is comprised of many dedicated and hard-working students. Although Julie Pemberton has done a very good job as editor-in-chief, the other responsibilities were broken down into different sections, with Tom Carlisle as copy editor, Jennifer Crosby editor of photography and Christine O'Connor as the business manager. After almost a year of hard work beginning last spring, the 1984 Barnacle turned out to be a success.

Alternate Learning Program

When asked to describe the Alternate Learning Program, some of the words that come to mind are: stability, independence, security, academic flexibility, more intimate classrooms, and consistency of seeing the same people throughout the day.

Each student who applies to the program, is seeking one or more of these qualities. He may need the security of seeing the same people all day, or the intimacy of the smaller classrooms. Sometimes it is the luxury of developing a close relationship with one or more of the staff.

This year's ALP section of the yearbook is dedicated to clarifying its purpose in honor of its tenth year in existence.

WHO

Who is in ALP?

The typical ALP student isn't necessarily anti-social, apolitical, or ignorant. She doesn't necessarily wear a leather jacket. He doesn't necessarily have a pierced ear. They don't play anymore Frisbee than anybody else does in the Spring. In fact, on any given day, the ALPIES in the cafeteria are not disconcertable from other students.

Some ALP graduates go on to college, some to trade schools, some to jobs, and so do traditional high school students. Some ALP kids listen to Van Halen, some to the Beatles, and some to Journey. So do the high school kids. Some study, some don't, some party, some don't, some take the easy way out, some don't. High school students are the same. Hemingway, Frost, and Twain are discussed by ALP students as well as high school students. Flowers In The Attic, and the Dead Zone are read by high school and ALPIES alike.

Evidently, there is no "typical ALP kid". ALP is an environment which at its forté is designed to encourage individuality and personal growth, not conformity. ALP is a milieu. But, then so is the high school and so is the world and that's what makes it go round and round!!

Pat Moran and Glenn Bacci enjoy a game of racquetball.

WHY

Why attend ALP?

The world is full of unique individuals who find rules and the ridged ringing of bells to signal class changes unnecessary in order to receive a well rounded education. The ALP is one of the learning environments many of those individuals choose.

Sometimes the confusion and enormity of high school seems uncomfortable, even scary! With its small classroom, and special environment at the end of the Art Wing, the ALP staff works to eliminate fear and confusion among its students. Because there is a closeness among students and staff, everyone works on a first-name basis. There is productive teacher/student interaction.

Not only does an ALP student enjoy the benefits of classes that are offered by staff, they also may choose classes offered in the high school. In addition to these opportunities they often have guest teachers who voluntarily come in and teach such classes as hypnotism and journalism. If it is approved, a student may also teach a class to his peers. Some of the electives this year have been stenciling and racquetball. If the ALP does not offer a particular class, the student may choose to do an independent study. All of these are acceptable enjoyable means of alternative education and fulfilling to the student.

Most importantly, the ALP is the place to learn because of its people. You're not just a student there, you're somebody with awareness, ideas and especially commitment. The students are committed to making the program work. Why do students join ALP? Because they want to!

Ten years reflected by Bill Pasko

Upon reflecting to compile this piece, my most prevalent thought was that ten years of one's life and career can seem so compressed with respect to time, yet in the same instance dilated by so many events of significance. Ten years at the Alternate Learning Program as an educator, has encompassed so many different roles that it is hard to categorize them: teacher, counselor, facilitator, listener, resource person, self-image enhancer, mountaineering leader, disciplinarian, surrogate parent. Trying to wear so many hats, the nagging question of self-doubt has always been: Do I really do any of these with true excellence? There is no universal truth in reference to this question, but the irrevocable fact is that these roles must be filled in order to meet the psychic and intellectual needs of the A.L.P. students.

Perhaps a bit of historical perspective is in order, as to the genesis and evolution of the A.L.P. Some ten or more years ago, during a time of self-examination for students and educators alike, the program was spawned with the concept that there was a clientele for a smaller, intimate, learning environment, that spoke to the above mentioned needs of students. Reality, of course, sounded the death knell of the above mentioned needs of students. Reality, of course, sounded the death knell of the above concept, and what really transpired that initial year at A.L.P. was a mix composed of about 50% student drop outs, 25% students who intended to drop out, and 25% students who were seriously interested in obtaining a quality education. Incidentally, much of this serious education transpired in the must, dank caverns of A.L.P. teachers' basements, as per lack of available space at B.H.S.

The first director of A.L.P., Peter Lallo, helped get the program off the ground, but departed at the end of this first hectic year. Gary Glatki was the second director and the first that tried to forge a coherent, viable, self-supporting program. Gary and the staff actively sought and cultured students that were bright but "turned off" for various reasons. During these two and a half years, we were able to synthesize a strong academic environment as evidenced by a 60% rate of college acceptance in 1977-1979. A.L.P. became a community that utilized community resources and occasionally traveled to sites, where learning could be most effective, whether it was the top of Mt. Washington for ecology and weather or traveling along the bottom of Buzzards Bay for marine biology.

The next transition era was marked by the departure of Gary and the directorship of Anne Cave. Anne provided firm administrative leadership, but our "stars" were gone with 18 seniors moving on to higher education. It seemed suddenly that A.L.P. became a codeword among B.H.S. staff for "copping out", or not being able to make it. It seemed that for a while our hands were tied. How could one get quality students if they never arrived at our door or were not referred? Recruit actively, that's how!!

Year six began with the hiring of the program's fourth director, Scott Kivel. Scott's initial reception as new director was a bit stormy. For the first few months, student reaction was strong to a new set of expectations in the area of academics and responsibility. With two-thirds of the program's students entering A.L.P. for the first time, and with staff changes and a new director, students were looking for limits, yet probing and bumping into them at the same time. Adversity can build character, and we tried to turn each new trial and tribulation into a new learning experience. Scott and the staff gradually pulled the program together, building esprit de corps, along with challenging group experiences like Camp Sargent, a three day outward bound adventure-type education program.

The years with Scott Kivel as director were marked as an era of outreach, as well as higher expectations and challenges for students. Outreach began with the active pursuit of students who were bright but who were not reaching their potential. Outreach also took the form of self-examination two years ago. Student, parent, alumni and B.H.S. staff questionnaires were formulated and results statistically compiled to discern the plusses and minuses of A.L.P. through the eyes of those both close and afar. Higher expectations for students took the form of a new and stiffer set of graduation requirements.

As to what the future holds for an "experimental" program of this nature, it is certainly difficult to foresee. We once again have a new director, Robert Wiley and a new staff person, Pat Moran, so status quo is not a likelihood. Changes that are in tune with the times are already underway.

CAUSE FOR ALARM

Were you asleep today Lord? I'd have to think you were.
Were you asleep like those in Lebanon? I'd have to think you were.

I know that 269 will never wake from their dreams of returning home. Please Lord, wake up and stop the death. Don't let the screams of the dying be what wakes you. Wake on your own Lord.

The mothers in America sit before their televisions and wonder if that is their son being pulled from the rubble. Oh Lord, wake up, your dreaming is causing a nightmare.

Isn't the tragedy complete at 269? Can't Reagan see? It shouldn't take more dead to make him to bring the boys back home to their mothers. Isn't it enough that those 269 will be forever stuck in that forever ravaged place?

Isn't it enough that 269 mothers will never see their boys again? Isn't it enough that they will only see the box bearing the lifeless mass of flesh that was once their son?

The mothers will be watching across the country as the boxes draped with the "free of charge" American flags are lowered into the earth. The mothers will keep the "free of charge" flags stained with the blood of their sons.

The mothers will mourn the loss forever. But will the world mourn the loss? I think not. The tale of death will fill the world newspapers and pictures of the mangled bodies being poured into bags will fill the television screens but will the world mourn? Will the world learn? Lord, have you waken? You're late to rise today. All is forgiven if you help us. We can forgive your sleeping late.

The count is rising Lord, 79, 119, 126, 146, 209, and now, 269. Please don't sleep in today, Lord, I know it's Sunday, but Lord you must help.

The screaming can almost be heard here. You must be able to hear it where you are. It must be loud enough to get you out of bed.

Lord, I'm crying; can you hear it? Will it wake you? I do not know the dead, but I feel the loss their mothers feel. Stop this Lord, before more mothers will have to mourn.

Wake up, Lord. I do not want my mother to mourn for the loss of her own son. Don't let the sound of the earth crumbling be what wakes you. It's a dreadful sound.

TALK

An interview with Mr. Graves

Alex Haley traced his forgotten roots along a dateline of one hundred years, but A.L.P. people needn't stretch back so far. Our history only spans a decade, and yet few of our "ancestors" still remain in the immediate area. So, in memorial of our ten year existence, we decided to speak with a few people who have seen our family grow from its inception.

Mr. Dick Graves spoke to us in his office about ALP and its evolution.

STAFF: Hi Mr. Graves! As you probably know, this is the ALP's 10th year. We know you were around at the time the ALP was started. Were you involved with starting the program?

MR. GRAVES: No, I was just in the Guidance Dept. at that time.

S: Oh well, can you tell us how the program got started?

Mr. G: Actually, Mr. Goldman can tell you more about that. But, I can tell you that the idea was to find some alternate methods to serve kids who couldn't or didn't want to be in the traditional program. It was also set up to provide a place for students who had various abilities and capabilities but who all seemed to want the security that a small school could give.

S: You mean like a homey atmosphere?

Mr. G.: Yes, you could put it that way.

S: And do you think that the original purpose was fulfilled?

Mr. G.: I think so, yes. Under the leadership of Peter Lallo, Gary Glatki, Anne Cave, Scott Kivel, and Bob Wiley. The same basic philosophy has been perpetuated; to attempt to meet the needs of youngsters within small groups and provide a lot of teacher/student interaction. It works. Contrary to some belief education DOES take place. Some graduates go on to good academic schools. I know of one in particular at Brown. Sometimes, ALP students get flack not only from other students, but also from teachers.

S: Why?

Mr. G: I think there are a couple of reasons. Misinformation is one, but more than that, I think ALP is housed in the same building as the high school. The freedom that the youngsters get down there is resented by some staff members. I think that is the main problem. One way to solve the problem would be to put the A.L.P. in a separate building, but that would also create problems. You see, ALP is basically like a one-room schoolhouse, and with its staff of five it is impossible to teach subjects like French 4 or Advanced Physics, or Chorus, etc. there just isn't enough.

S: So, you think the ALP needs to be integrated with the high school?

Mr. G.: Yes, it needs to be in the building so the kids can integrate themselves.

S: Do you think the school should be more integrated?

Mr. G.: No, I think we have a good mix now. If a student has a big interest and wants to take Industrial Arts, he can take it. However, in order to maintain the identity and purpose of the particular program, separateness is important. Separate, that is, but also apart. Personally, I try to make the ALP feel a part of the high school. For instance, ALP people have participated in high school committees such as student council. Also, the leadership conferences. But, I think ALP students also have to think, "I have pride in ALP, I belong there." They need to have a sense of unity.

S: I know last year ALP sent some information to the guidance department to recruit some new students. What kind of person would you suggest go to ALP to check out the program?

Mr. G: Well, it's difficult to categorize, but I think someone who is having difficulty adjusting to a large school atmosphere or feels the need to identify with a group should check it out. Or a student who wants a more personal education, more contact with his teachers, and more attention would be interested; or just anyone who feels dissatisfied with the high school for whatever reason.

S: I know they were looking for artistically and musically inclined people last year, sensitive-type kids.

Mr. G: I don't think the student has to be sensitive. I think they might become sensitive once involved in the group.

S: So, do you think people can develop well in ALP?

Mr. G: Yes, if need be.

S: Sorry, I didn't mean to put words in your mouth!

Mr. G: No, that's all right. It takes different places for different people. Some students develop best in the ALP, but others can achieve that same growth in a regular high school. Some kids need more direction than the high school gives. ALP students have more and less freedom. Each knows the other and it's like a family.

At this point in the interview, Mr. Dick Goldman passed by, and Mr. Graves suggested I ask him a few questions. We went to Mr. Goldman's office, and after I explained what I was doing, the following conversation took place:

S: When the ALP started what did people think?

Mr. Goldman: People thought it was a good idea. Kids dropping out of regular high school seemed to prosper in the program.

S: Who started ALP?

Mr. G: It was a committee. But, Ray Rose was assistant principal at the time and the administrative work was his job. As I remember, Alice Williams was also involved.

involved.

S: Do you think the program has contributed significantly to Barnstable education?

Mr. G: Yes, I think it keeps 65 kids in high school who normally wouldn't stay. It is a very well run program. As a matter of fact, the accrediting committees were quite impressed with it, and rated it as one of the best.

S: Is there anything else you would like to add?

Mr. G: Yes, I would like to say that I have enjoyed my interaction with the ALP and I think alternative education has a definite place in public education.

BELL WINS CONTEST

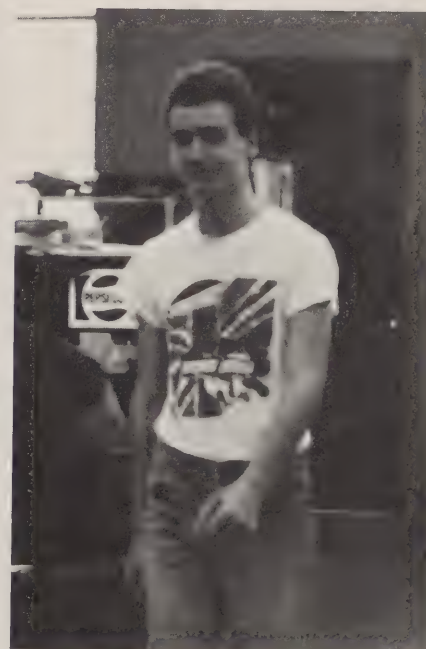

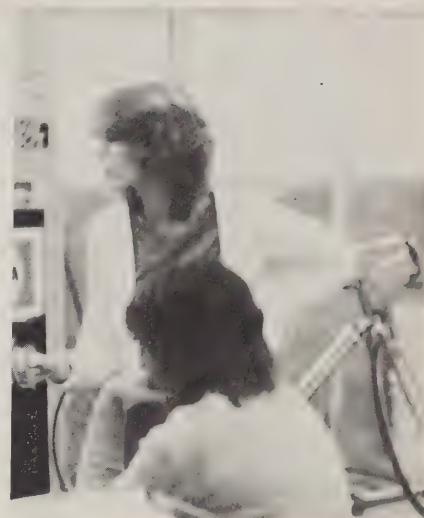

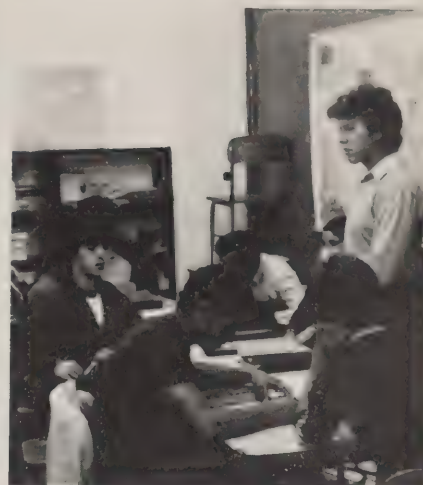

Christopher Bell, a member of the Advanced Creative Writing class in ALP last year, was notified by the New England Poetry Club that he was awarded a $50 first prize in New England for his poetry.

He was awarded the Ruth Berrien Fox Award through Harvard University and sponsored by The Boston Globe.

He read his work at the Boston Globe Festival on November 9.

His poem, "Probable Solution" follows.

There's nothing left for me to say
I fell between the cracks today
Obliterated and disguised
I cannot see through sightless eyes
If murder was a game, they say
And we played by the rules
Despite all counteraction
The world would be run by fools
Nothing is worth anything
Unless everything is worth something
Statues run and hide again
As illusions cease to be
I'm carving my initials
In someone's family tree
The part that I play with no script to assist
Is the part that I don't understand
If people were dying in front of me
I might stop and lend them a hand
Macabre religion, Christ in hand
The bible stained in red
They buried Brezhnev in Red Square
But is he really dead?
Stop and go, Joseph Stalin
A summer back in Dresden
Silver shells fell from the sky
No one knows where they've been.

The basketball cheerleaders for the 1983-84 season were selected in the spring and, like any other team, put in many hours of practice to prepare for the game. But, in addition to cheering enthusiastically at the games, the cheerleaders also have another role, that of being a "secret cheerleader."

At the beginning of basketball season, each cheerleader is assigned a basketball player. She then anonymously gives her player a small gift before each game to get him psyched for the game. The players finally discover who their "secret cheerleaders" are at the annual basketball banquet.

A Child Is Loaned

*I'll lend you for a little time a child of Mine. He said.
For you to love the while he lives and mourn for when he's dead.
He may be six or seven years or twenty two or three.
But will you, till I call him back, take care of him for Me?*

*He'll bring his charms to gladden you; and should his stay be brief,
You'll have his lovely memories as solace for your grief.
I cannot promise he will stay, since all from earth return,
But there are lessons taught down there I want this child to learn.*

*I've looked this wide world over in My search for teachers true,
And from the throngs that crowd life's lanes, I have selected you.
Now will you give him all your love, nor think the labor vain,
Nor hate Me when I come to call and take him back again?*

*I fancied that I heard them say: "Dear Lord, Your will be done."
For all the joy Your child shall bring, the risk of grief we'll run,
We'll shelter him with tenderness, we'll love him while we may;
And for the happiness we've known, forever grateful stay.*

But should the angels call for him much sooner than we've planned, We'll brave the bitter grief that comes and try to understand.

THE CLASS WITH CLASS "

1984 SUPERLATIVES

Left to Right, Front to Back: Neal McDonogh and Kim Powell are dressed to entertain as Best Actor and Actress. Denise Parent is always ready to put her artistic ability to work as Best Artist. Eric Steenstra and Reghan Sullivan, Class Flirts, aren't afraid to show their affection to anyone. Kathy Lamoureux can't believe she was elected Most Gullible. Melissa Flamburis enjoys her title of Class Individualist. Karen McBarron and Mark Glover always stick it to the opposing team as Most Athletic. Holly White and Bill Connolly; Most Studious, collaborate for the answer to a baffling math problem. Peter Field, with his exceptional disposition, was also elected Class Individualist. Lisa Gifford, Most Often Found In the Cafe, was able to withdraw herself long enough to have her picture taken. Ben Miller reveals his biceps to fellow electors who voted him Best Body. A sign reading "Class of 1984" is displayed for Most Popular. Jean Farley and Bill Kenney were elected owners of the Best Eyes for their distinct baby blues. J. Brendon Johnson, Best Laugh, is known for his exclusive snicker. Brendon Monaghan grins in disbelief for being voted Most Guillible. Sue Elkins is set for party action as Best Partier in her DEVO sunglasses. Todd Sherman and Shah McDaniel might do anything requested as Most Daring. Patty McDermott and Willy Ewing mesmerize onlookers with their Best Walks. Nancy "Clamma" Gogan is known for her specialized Best Laugh. Nancy Hallett and Greg Tobey (in back) conceal their dazzling Best Smiles with bandannas. Bruce Barboza makes his debut after a long record of absences as Most Absent. Joyce Peacock gives Mike Curley some tips on keeping up their appearance as Best Looking from a recent issue of GQ Magazine.

Categories not represented include: Usually Found In The Cafe, Ted Semprini; Best Artist, Andree Coates; Most School Spirit, Scott Myers; Best Body, Joyce Peacock; Best Par-tier, Todd Sherman; Most Talkative, Andrea Santangelo; Best Dressed, Mark Childs; Most Sophisticated, Mike Mathewson and Paige Hall; Class Heartbreaker, Jacci St. Thomas; Most Disorganized, Neal Higginbotham and Wendy Lewis; and Most Absent Mary Ann Simmons.

WHAT A YEAR!

July

Mr. Davis wins all Blue Ribbons awarded in competition among the Professional Photographers of Cape Cod.

August

The studio moves into a newly constructed, state-of-the-art facility. New looks in commercial work and portraiture are created. Combination indoor-outdoor sittings begin, giving the best of both worlds to our clients.

Robert Davis Photography is named to a network of approved studios to create model portfolios for a major modeling agency. The only Cape photographer recognized.

September

Robert Davis is named as one of only 25 photographers from the thousands in Massachusetts to earn Certification. The coveted title of Certified Professional Photographer is the result of examination in theoretical and practical knowledge, experience and a portfolio judging (which included some B.H.S. seniors).

castle walls

once in a dream
far beyond these castle walls down by the bay where the moonlit water falls
i stood alone while the minstrel sang his song
so afraid i'd lost my soul

there in the fog his song
kept calling me
leading me on with its haunting melody
deep in my heart a voice kept echoing
i knew i'd soon be wandering

far beyond these castle walls
where the distant harbour
meets the sky

far beyond these castle walls
where i thought i heard tiresias say life is never what it seems and every man must meet his destiny
